

20289 to 20424—Continued.

20362. CLEMATIS SP. Clematis.
 From Sedansk. "(No. 591a, Oct. 8, 1906.) A climbing Clematis; not seen in flower, but probably has yellow blossoms." (Meyer.)
20363. PANICUM CRUS-GALLI. Barnyard millet.
 From Merkoehofka. "(No. 592a, Oct. 26, 1906.) Chinese name Bay tse. This millet prefers a heavy, wet soil; of use as a fodder plant. See also No. 50a (S. P. I. No. 17901)." (Meyer.)
20364. AVENA SATIVA. Oat.
 From Khabarovsk. "(No. 594a, Nov. 8, 1906.) Black French. 'Pro-lifiquc.' Seed obtained from Mr. V. T. Kovaleff, in charge of the agricultural station at Khabarovsk. These oats were ordered from Russia in 1900 and gave in four years' time the heaviest crop of all oats experimented with up here." (Meyer.)
20365. AVENA SATIVA. Oat.
 From Khabarovsk. "(No. 595a, Nov. 8, 1906.) Shatilovskiy. Obtained from Mr. V. T. Kovaleff, in charge of the agricultural station at Khabarovsk. These oats were ordered from Russia in 1905 and gave a heavy crop last year." (Meyer.)
20366. AVENA SATIVA. Oat.
 From Khabarovsk. "(No. 596a, Nov. 15, 1906.) Shatilovskiy. Purchased on the market at Khabarovsk, where these oats are considered the best variety and are dearer than other varieties." (Meyer.)
20367. AVENA SATIVA. Oat.
 From Khabarovsk. "(No. 597a, Nov. 8, 1906.) Shawannic. Obtained from Mr. V. T. Kovaleff, in charge of the agricultural station at Khabarovsk. Original seed secured in Russia in 1900; produced rather good crops at Khabarovsk." (Meyer.)
20368. AVENA SATIVA. Oat.
 From Khabarovsk. "(No. 598a, Nov. 8, 1906.) A local variety of oats secured from Mr. V. T. Kovaleff, in charge of the agricultural station. This does not produce as heavy a crop as the improved varieties do." (Meyer.)
20369. AVENA SATIVA. Oat.
 From Khabarovsk. "(No. 599a, Nov. 15, 1906.) Purchased on the market at Khabarovsk. An ordinary variety grown anywhere." (Meyer.)
