

AN ORCHARD OF CHINESE PERSIMMONS (DIOSPYROS KAKI).

The trees are all grafted or patch-budded on Diospyros lotus, which seems to thrive particularly well in such situations as this, at the foot of the spurs of the Tsin Mountains at Nantochu, south of Sianfu, Shensi, China. See S. P. I. Nos. 37465 to 37473 and 37525 to 37540. (Photographed (P13059FS) by Frank N. Meyer, January 22, 1914.)
