

A NEW VEGETABLE FROM COLOMBIA. (CYCLANTHERA PEDATA (L.) SCHRAD.;
S. P. I. No. 51390.)

Commonly sold in the markets of Bogota under the misleading name of "pepino," this vegetable, borne on a vine like the cucumber, is said by Mr. Popenoe to be served stuffed with chopped meat and baked, as are sweet peppers in the North. It is not eaten as a salad like the true pepino (Solanum muricatum). (Photographed, natural size, by Wilson Popenoe, Bogota, Colombia, August 26, 1920; P18035FS.)
