

28024 to 28029—Continued.

28027. "Kowliang. Said to be the finest variety on the island."
(Ware.)

"Brown Kowliang. Apparently the same as S. P. I. No. 22911."
(Carleton R. Ball.)

"Please note that although sorgo is cultivated on an extensive scale the Chinese have never used the stalk for sirup manufacture. It is sold on the markets in bundles and chewed for the juice, and also fed to the pigs." (Ware.)

28028. PANICUM MILIACEUM L. Proso millet.

"Mixed millet. This is mixed ready for sowing. Unless mixed, each variety would be too hard for domestic use, but in growing a mixed crop, one kind is fructified by the other and a grain is produced which is much valued as an article of diet. In many places it is ground and takes the place of flour." (Ware.)

28029. CHAETOCHLOA ITALICA (L.) Scribn.

"Yellow. Also highly valued and used as the preceding (S. P. I. No. 28028)." (Ware.)
